

We created this communal piece of art during our Waitangi Day Intergenerational service. Each person was invited to decorate a koru to represent themselves however they wanted to, and then I had a helper staple them on the wall during the service. You'll recognise the words which were used as Te Tiriti was signed - now we are all one people – he iwi tahi tatou.

Don't we all need to be reminded of this!

Melanie Keith.
